Background on Lionel whom I've never met.

He advises that academically, he has a BS in Education, an MS degree in Pharmacology and many semester hours beyond. In the process he acquired the equivalent of a major in Chemistry with strong minors in Physics, Mathematics, and Physiology plus a good bit of many other ologies. Professionally, he has been a teacher of Physics, Chemistry, and Mathematics in High School, a Biomedical Engineer, but mostly a Software Engineer for over 45 years both as an employee and as a contract consultant.
